Types of registration

There are three options for registration at T!M

Registration with your e-mail address

Every user can register with the e-mail address which has been deposited to him, if the corresponding password is correct.

At T!M, e-mail addresses have to be distinct for every user (system-wide)

Registration with client and user name

It is also possible to register with your user name. In order for T!M to know for which client the user wants to register, this has to be specified as a prefix according to the following form:

```
client/name
```

You can find your name in client_profile.

Registration with user name only

If the parameter default-client is set in the tim.properties, T!M tries to standardly register with Mandanten.
